

Multidimensional aspect in creating co-working spaces

Invitation to the Online Final Demonstration
27th April 10 am

DEMOLA PÉCS welcomes you!

The Challenge

- There is growing demand at the University of Pécs for having an open space for multipurpose use. A space which is open for students, researchers and companies to get in touch, communicate, work together.
- What makes a space inspiring for co-creation works and how can it be managed effectively? What kind of premises, design elements, programs, promoting activities, managing efforts etc. could ensure that a space fulfils its role to boost the coworking process?
